by PRIME-LINE[®]

The original SEGAL lock was developed in 1912 by Samuel Segal, a New York police officer, who saw the need to protect residents from thieves “jimmying” or spreading the door frame to gain entry. Improvements over the years have changed the original design and made the Segal Vertical Deadbolt one of the strongest locking devices available through the retail channels.

Who we are

The original Segal lock was developed in 1912 by Samuel Segal, a New York City Police Officer who saw a need to protect residents from thieves “Jimmying” or spreading the door frame to gain entry. The lock was quickly accepted as the best way to secure a door against unauthorized entry due to physical attack.

During the mid 1900's, the Segal Lock Company grew in size and added over 100 products to its security hardware product line and quickly became a household name in many parts of the U.S. The products were manufactured in Norwalk, Connecticut, near the original manufacturing site. In the 1950's, Segal lock company came under new management and ownership, and was manufactured under license agreement by the New England Lock Company. Samuel Segal was featured in the Locksmith Ledger in May of 1955 for his innovations and contributions to the locksmith industry.

In 1998, New England Lock Company was purchased by ASSA ABLOY AB, and renamed to NEL Co. The products still retained the Segal brand as the company prepared to make changes to ensure the quality and security of future products.

In 2008 Segal Lock Company was purchased by Prime-Line Products with the intention of continuing the long tradition of supplying high quality door locks.

Tampering Jams Pickproof Lock

COMPLETELY pickproof, a new cylinder-type lock just perfected cannot be opened in any way except with the owner's key, according to its inventor, Samuel Segal, a former detective of the New York City police force. The lock contains an oscillating protective sleeve fitted over the cylinder plug and movable pins that jam the mechanism whenever any attempt is made to open the lock by picking or with any device other than the key designed for it. The photograph at the left shows Bernard Zion, famous locksmith, during the course of his unsuccessful attempt to pick open the lock, as its inventor looks on. Inset shows the interior mechanism of the lock.

Segal locks have made notable appearances in popular culture:

Seinfeld (T.V. show): Jerry Seinfeld's apartment has both a Segal deadbolt and night latch on the door.

The Last of Us (videogame for Sony PS3): Segal locks are seen on some of the doors in the game.

León: The Professional (1994): Starring Jean Reno, Gary Oldman, Natalie Portman, Danny Aiello. The main character León has two Segal locks on his apartment door. On one of them he takes off the knob and uses it as a peephole during the first 30 minutes of the movie.

Monk (T.V. show): Adrian Monk, the show's main character, has a Segal lock on the front door of his apartment.

Taxi Driver (1976): Starring Robert De Niro, Jodie Foster, Harvey Keitel, Cybill Shepherd, and Albert Brooks. The main character "Travis Bickle" played by Robert De Niro, has a Segal lock on his apartment door. (Lock has been painted over with white paint)

Dog Day Afternoon (1975): Starring Al Pacino, John Cazale, Charles Durning, Chris Sarandon, Penelope Allen, James Broderick, Lance Henriksen, and Carol Kane. When the police go to the main character Sonny's house to get his wife, there's a Segal deadbolt, as well as a Segal night latch on the door.

The Naked City (1948): Starring Barry Fitzgerald. Segal locks and night latches can be seen on a few doors in the film.

1984 (1984): Starring John Hurt, Richard Burton, Suzanna Hamilton, and Cyril Cusack. The main character Winston Smith has a Segal night latch on the door of his apartment.

The Odd Couple (1968): Starring Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau. Felix Ungar has a Segal night latch on the front door of his apartment.

Serpico (1973): Starring Al Pacino, Waldo Salt and Norman Wexler. Al Pacino's character Frank Serpico has a Segal deadbolt on his back door and a Segal deadbolt, as well as a Segal night latch on the front door of his apartment.

Choosing the proper security for your home

According to the FBI, a burglary occurs somewhere in the US every 15.4 seconds.

Most burglaries are carried out in less than 10 minutes.

3 out of 4 homes in the US will be broken into within the next 20 years.

34% through the front door

Apartment or Home Doors: Perfect for supplemental security on interior and exterior apartment doors as well as any residential door where extra protection is desired. Segal interlocking deadbolts are especially effective on wood frame doors to prevent "jimmying" the door.

Commercial Doors: In areas where risk of abuse is high, the interlocking design of Segal locks is ideal. Commonly used in commercial rear-door applications where extra protection or automatic relocking is desired. Segal locks are most effective when combined with the solid steel cylinder guard plate.

Historic Renovations: For the discriminating decorator trying to satisfy every detail, Segal brass locks carry the same design and attention to security and detail as they did in 1912. They not only provide the turn-of-the-century look and feel, but they offer more protection than a standard deadbolt.
